

Urban Harvest's Affiliate Garden community includes one of the largest networks of edible gardens in the country. Our organization teaches people how to start and maintain a community garden; provides volunteers, materials, and seasonal plants; and offers ongoing training, education, and expertise on community engagement, gardening skills, and healthy eating to affiliate gardens.

Some of the benefits of becoming an affiliated garden include:

- Individual and group volunteer referrals
- Complementary spots in our gardening classes
- Listing in our Affiliate Garden Map
- Free plants, materials, and education at Hub Distributions
- Participation in Adopt-a-Garden
- Gardening advice
- Free seeds from Urban Harvest's seasonal seed bank
- Discounts on gardening supplies from the following local retail locations:
 - Nature's Way Resources
 - Quality Feed & Garden Inc.
 - RCW Nurseries
- Subscription to our quarterly planting guide
- Ability to post on our Community Garden Facebook group

How to Become an Affiliate Garden

1. Provide Urban harvest with up-to-date contact information for our database, including:
 - Garden address and full name
 - Garden leader and contact information
2. Schedule a visit with the Community Gardens Committee to come see your garden.
3. Complete the Becoming an Affiliate Garden Survey
3. Purchase a Community Garden Affiliate sign for your garden. For more information or to order a community garden sign please contact emily@urbanharvest.org
